MBI & MBO CLUB The Club is sponsored jointly by Enterprise Investors and Pedersen & Partners. It focuses on the issues and challenges facing ambitious managers who would like to become or already are company owners, through a management buy-in (MBI) or management buy-out (MBO). The Club operates as an informal network of a select group of successful top managers from the countries of Central & Eastern Europe and is a forum for identifying opportunities, exchanging ideas, and developing contacts. Club meetings take place usually two times a year in each of the affiliated countries. They combine opportunities for informal networking with structured presentations that are designed to help members realize their MBI or MBO plans. By joining the Club, members gain access to an extensive network of useful contacts and advisers. There is no membership fee.

WENTO Business model of Wento is based on its ability to deliver to the interested industrial, or financial investors highly productive wind farms, utilizing the most advanced wind turbines technology, while maintaining competitive price for such assets. Wento builds and sells the wind farms, which has been carefully selected and acquired from the most reputable wind farm developers. More info on www.wento.eu

Wojciech Cetnarski took on the position of Wento's CEO after eight years of successful running of his own investment advisory and management company, providing his expertise and knowledge to the national and international customers from the renewable energy sector. During this time, from 2009 till 2012 he also served as the Management Board Member of Norvento Polska, an investment and project development company, acquiring and developing wind farm projects in Poland. Norvento Polska was part of Norvento group of renewable energy companies, privately held by Spanish investors. Till December 2005 Wojciech Cetnarski held the position of President of Polish Energy Partners S.A. first Polish independent power producer, he started in 1997, with funds managed by Enterprise Investors. Currently he is holding also the position of President of Polish Wind Energy Association.
